

Scottish Tourism Forum Weekly News Digest

6 January 2008

Dear STF Member,

Welcome to your weekly news digest from STF, the independent forum of Scottish tourism businesses and associations. This digest gives a brief round up of the main stories concerning the industry over the past two weeks.

The digest also includes updates on forthcoming events. Red Tape News, STF Member News, New Members and a fuller Events directory will continue to appear in the STF Member Newsletter.

If you have any comments about any of the issues mentioned in this week's digest I would be glad to hear them, email ruth.greig@stforum.co.uk

STF News

STF member David Smythe, of Association of Scotland's Self Caterers has released ASSC's latest Season-to-Date Survey conducted in November 2008. David comments that the self catering sector seems in an optimistic mood, with 75% of ASSC respondents claiming 2008 bookings as good as, or better than 2007. Looking forward to 2009, over 81% said that forward bookings were as good or better than in November last year. He considers despite early optimism, that 2009 will be a challenging year for self-catering, particularly early season and the short-break market. David also advises self-caterers to maintain close contact with their previous visitors, making sure all marketing is up-to-date and to consider using Web 2 platforms for 2009. ASSC is also urging self-caterers to get behind the Homecoming 09 campaign, which is providing some 100 reasons for visitors to holiday in Scotland. Click here for report

A working group is being formed to produce new Fire Regulation guidance material for the small bed and breakfast providers, we have been concerned by the number of operators being asked to install top end precautions in low risk assessed premises. The industry puts visitor safety at the top of the list, however it must be practical and appropriate - and we congratulate Government on taking swift and appropriate action.
